Coming here, may suggest that the British Empire and the United States establish freedom of the seas by dividing the earth between them.

The United States must take charge of the western hemisphere and Great Britain take charge of the east.

That would suit us as regards this western hemisphere. We live here, don't want anything our neighbors have, don't want anybody to interfere with them, don't intend to allow it, and don't want anybody to interfere with us.

If Britain will keep peace in the rest of the world, we shall be much obliged.

Plenty of submarines and heavy bombing planes to meet anybody that comes with hostile intention, swift planes able to fly the ocean, long range submarines, warning all nations, "Strike at us, and we shall strike you where you live, and you will never forget us."

That, with all due respect to pacifists, is the program for this country.

A scientific expedition, led by Dr. Beebe, finds in the sea off Nonsuch Island, Bermuda, fish that, projecting from its head, has two stalks longer than its body, with an eye at the end of each stalk.

It is as though you had two bamboo fishing poles projecting from your forehead, with an eye at the end of each fishing pole. These fish can look three ways at once, backward, forward, sideways.

"Marvelous proofs of evolution," scientists call it. But why?

What could amuse little Cain and Abel more than to watch fish with eyes at the end of stalks, swimming in the brook in the Garden of Eden?

Tomorrow is "Father's Day." You are invited to "give dad a cigarette," or anything else that he needs.

One gift the average "Dad" would appreciate, and it would cost nothing—pay a little attention to what Dad says, between the lines, and meet Father's Day.

If children could be persuaded that "Dad" hasn't spent all of the life in vain and that he really knows something worth listening to, the average "Dad" would be well pleased.

James Simpson, of Chicago, owner of Marshall Field & Co., biggest store in the United States, steps across the ocean to Seattle and purchases Frederick & Nelson, one of the most important stores on the Pacific coast.

This interests Seattle, which realizes Mr. Simpson's knowledge of business and that he will have him select Seattle for his first important undertaking out of Chicago.

Mr. Simpson's purchase interests merchants in other cities who will see in Marshall Field's Seattle purchase the beginning of a chain of big stores.

Fine weather on the Atlantic. "Best in years" for flying, according to the weather bureau.

The three plucky Frenchmen's hop was transatlantic flight No. 10. Nine planes have crossed the ocean, beginning with the United States navy plane in 1931. Seven flights were "non-stop."

Flying in 1938 cost $84 lives, a majority due to stalling and other recklessness and to use of planes unfit to fly.

Because flying is now an occasional death tortifies the public, which pays little attention to many times as many deaths on tall buildings, subways, bridges and railroads.

The French police on Thure du Crest, a young man accused of passing worthless checks. He contacted a woman, who gave him the checks paid. When an old woman asked him, "Why did you do it, my boy?" He replied: "Whiskey."

Was this a French boy, lured to destruction in a land where nobody drinks ice cream? No, strange as it may seem, it was an American boy, who became a drunkard here in good prohibition United States. When he was taken to his prison in Paris from his ship, you would have tried in vain to find among the millions of French boys that live in Paris one single drunkard of that type common in America.

That puzzles us good prohibitionists, but it need not. The French don't drink ice cream, but they would no more think of drinking whiskey than that American boy would think of swallowing straitjacket. They are sober.

20 SECRET DADDY GIRLS

For the second time in recent years, a member of the family of former Lieutenant Governor Edward P. Barry has been severely wounded.

Min Beatrice Barry, 20, is one of the principals in the family's latest romance. It became known today that the girl has become the bride of John A. Maguire, 27, graduate and practicing engineer.

The former Lieutenant Governor could not be located at his office or home. His law-partner, Edward J. Casey, however, informed the Boston Evening American that Miss Barry and Maguire had been married, but that he did not know where or when.

Miss Barry lives with her parents in Jamaica Plain, while Maguire is a resident of Cornhill. The Maguires also live in Jamaica Plain.

The first romance in the family of the former lieutenant governor occurred in 1924, when another daughter, Miss Alice Elizabeth, married to New Haven, Conn., where she secretly became the bride of Harold J. Wadsworth, Sullivan, Yale law student and was aviator.

BEG HOOPER TO END KILLINGS

International Falls, Minn., June 15 (AP)—A contest between federal and state officials for the custody of E. J. White, border patrolman, charged with killing Henry Vitkus, loomed today, as the Canadian border town waited for executive action from President Hoover, who has been sent an appeal for relief from what citizens derided as "arrogant lawlessness" on the part of patrolmen.

The message to the President was dispatched following filing of a charge of second degree murder against White, accused of killing the big Bulls confederate Saturday night while searching for liquor runners.

A patrolman's hearing has been set for July 2, and he was remanded to jail in default of $20,000.

L. L. Drift, United States district attorney at St. Paul, announced he had been authorized from Washington by Attorney-General William D. Clegg to petition for removal of White.

Flag Finalists Read Essays as Nation Tunes In

Impressive Scene Enacted in Capitol as Boys and Girls Compete

By FRASER EDWARDS
Washington, June 15—Beneath the great gray dome of the Capitol—symbol of the solidarity of the nation—American boys and girls today read their essays in the national flag contest.

The four winners of the round-the-world trip prize of the national flag contest of the United States Flag Association and the Hearst papers, chosen by a distinguished jury of three men and three women, for their enunciation of the principles which will preserve the republic were:

The two champions on the world tour are:

It was life's greatest moment for these four patriotic pilgrims of Uncle Sam. But their high-spirited hearts found an echo in the bosom of the grizzled veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, who sponsored the Flag Day ceremonies which were featured by the selection of the quartette.

Washington, June 15 (IN)—President Hoover's farm bill program was translated into law at noon today. Just a year and a day from the time he was nominated for the presidency, Mr. Hoover scribbled his signature to the bill.

The bill sets up a new federal farm board of eight members, yet to be selected, and establishes crop stabilization corporations, with power to "enter the market" in order to prevent radical price de-

IDEAL HOLIDAY WEATHER

Ideal weather for the week-end and holiday is the promise the Weather Bureau holds out for the thousands of workers and their families, who plan to take advantage of the two-day vacation.

By rail motor car, trolley and in some cases by airplane, residents of Greater Boston flocked to seashore and country today to enjoy the vacation afforded by the holiday. Cheered by the weather man's promise, the hordes started at an early hour, and traffic rolled out of Boston in an ever-increasing volume.

Railroads reported addition of numerous trains to their schedules, and filling station proprietors prepared for a golden harvest.

STAGE AND SCREEN

FILM MOVING FAST

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

THE old order changeth. In this day of the last growing-up talkies, the motion picture public has taken a cue from folks who buy on the store counters. That public goes shopping. It expects more and goes hunting for it. Not so much as bargain-hunters, rather as seekers after the best in film offerings. It is becoming a quest of the best. So declares Stephen E. Fitzgibbon, manager of the Keith-Albee, who has been tied up with the movies since he was a mere fledgling. "The talking pictures have brought it about," he explains, "to the victor belongs the spoils, to the house that has the best show, goes the business."

HE adds that since the talkies came into fashion, all productions have been put on the same level. "The best," he continues, "talking pictures have revolutionized the business. At first conditions were chaotic, but now the industry has been brought into order, and the talkies are vastly improved. And are getting better. Though one of the young managers of the business knows his 'mug' as well as his 'mug' in Dorchester, he is at the age of 10 'got the fever,' became an usher and ever since has stuck to the theater, gradually rising to his present high position."

THE talkies may be said to be in their infancy despite their vast improvement in recent months. Great wonders are said to come. The newer sort of talking pictures is superb, and they are going to get better and better. Their coming is a blow of course to the legitimate stage; musical comedy will be the worst sufferer of all. Vaudeville will be hit least of all, as a matter of fact there has been a reaction in this particular, and vaudeville is at a premium in popular favor.

MR. FITZGIBBON paid high tribute to his predecessor, Mr. Grady has an insight into this business that is remarkable. He has kept abreast of the times, knows theater from A to Z, and has a grasp of the business, and a knowledge of the life of the theater generally in Boston, he stands for the theater's very best, plus the proper attitude toward the public.

THE RKO programs offered here, Mr. Fitzgibbon declared, are personally supervised by Joseph P. Plunkett, RKO's general manager, and Henry Taylor, New England division manager. Both are to be credited with the many improvements we have seen and are seeing," Mr. Plunkett can tell you what is going on in each theater in the van chain at any moment, and Mr. Taylor is his able aid in this district. And let it be added that Mr. Fitzgibbon is a peppy, able and zealous worker in the same field with the "big house."

GAY NOTES OF LIFE ARE SOUNDED AS WELL AS ITS DEEPER TONES

"THE WHEEL OF LIFE" swings low overpass for Richard Dix and Esther Ralston in "The Wheel of Life" (Metropolitan). London romance renewed in India.

HELEN OF TROY had nothing to charm on this modern Helen, last name Kane, who appears in person at the New B. F. Keith's this week.

LOVE OF THE EAST, typified in Myrna Loy, draws the heart of Victor McLaglen, in "Black Watch" (Keith-Albee). Tale of war and love.

WHEEL TURNS FOR FATE

Richard Dix is seen in his second all-talking production, "The Wheel of Life," at the Metropolitan. This is number two of the big pictures to be presented during June-Banner Month at this playhouse.

"The Wheel of Life" is a picture of the successful stage play by James Bernard Fagan, which played two seasons in London. It is a romantic drama, whose setting is a British military post in India, where Dix, as the dashing captain at the post, falls in love with the beautiful wife of his superior officer. The pair forswear their romance for the honor of the regiment, but they meet later during an engagement with the wild mountain tribes of Tibet. Dix shows to advantage in the colorful role of a million.

He wears the badge of soldiery with distinction. Supporting Dix in the cast are Esther Ralston and O. P. Heggie, who is superb.

The picture was directed by Victor Schertzinger, the man who made more than a score of successes, including "Forgotten Faces," "Reckless," and "Nothing But the Truth," the latter being Dix' first all-talking picture, and one which enhanced him in the hearts of the public, as he has a clear distinct voice which reproduces excellently. Unlike many of the stars of the silent drama, his voice has really helped his popularity.

Besides the feature picture, Clark McCullough are seen in an all-talking comedy, "The Medicine Man."

Ted Claire and his Met Synchro-pators, head this week's stage show, "Honeycomb Cruise," which takes you for a ride on a sea-ocean-going vessel, with a cast of vaudeville favorites, including Ray Hooper, comedian; Jos & Willie Hale, tap dancers; Luella Forting, coloratura soprano; late of the German Opera company; Babe Morris, ingenue; and Billy Myers, Eugene Rainey, The Honeycomb Trio, and the Dorothy Becke Girls complete the cast.

Guy Harrison, director of the Metropolitan Orchestra, offers "Light Cavalry" as this week's overture.

Arthur Martel returns to his post as feature organist with "While Striding Through the Park."

French Foreign Legion in Talking Picture

The French Foreign Legion has at last found voice in "Two Men and a Maid," talking and sound picture now at the Modern and Beacon. Jimmie Durante, an English gentleman, believing that his wife has disgraced his name, elicits in the Foreign Legion, and arrives at an Algerian village on the outer edge of civilization. Here he finds excitement, a degree of "gratification" and "The Woman." Now he escapes the death penalty for desertion, and eventually finds happiness, makes love and interesting drama.

AT NORUMBEGA

The Aerial Yungas, a duo of trapezeists who made such a hit last week, have been retained for another week at Norumbega Park.

Still in the Ring

"The Man Who Changed His Name" at the Coplay. (Fourth week.) Spirited comedy about the impostor's identity. The last week.

Jane Coul in "Jenny" at the Plymouth. (Fourth week.) Rather snappy exterior and in the impostor's identity. The last week.

LOU CLAYTON, Jimmie Durante and Eddie Jackson, trio of stars in Ziegfeld's "Show Girl" (Colonial, June 24). Jimmie's back is being plastered as his temperature is being taken.

FORGOT Stage to Take Up Film Direction

William S. Van Dyke, director of "The Pagan," Ramon Novarro starring, on the screen at Loew's Orpheum the coming week, in which Novarro introduces his tenor voice to motion picture audiences, is the son of Jim Winston, former well-known actress.

Van Dyke was born at San Diego, Calif. in 1892. He started his stage career at the age of seven and was an actor for many years, appearing in stock, vaudeville and road shows. In 1919 he made his stage at the suggestion of D. W. Griffith who wished him to take a part in "Intolerance" and to help him with the direction.

Musical Comedy Opens Next Monday Night

The musical comedy, "Boom Boom," will appear at Wilbur for a limited engagement, beginning Monday night. Miss Fanny Todd Mitchell wrote the book, Werner Janzen did the music, and Mann Holmer did the lyrics. George Marion staged the scene and Jack Boyle trained the scene and boys.

"THE STORM"

A great deal of speculation is going on in Hollywood as to the players who will take the parts in "The Storm." It will be made for next year's program, in full dialogue.

AY, NOW IT CAN BE TOLD!

All work and no play made Helen a dull girl—so she says. And only being able to snatch four hours' sleep out of 24 made her a very sleepy girl, also. So now she plays a bit, worse less, sleeps more and feels like a new person.

The young lady referred to is none other than the diminutive Helen Kane, star of the stage, the pictures, the radio and records, who comes back to Boston and vaudeville at the new B. F. Keith's theater today.

Helen is taking things easier now-days. Up until a month or so ago she was working 20 hours a day, the states. Her days started at 8 in the morning. At that hour Miss Kane began her weary body from bed and went down to make Victor recording tests for numbers she intended to record. Thence to rehearsal. Thence to more studies. Thence to the theater.

On afternoon when there were no matinees, Helen was always to be found playing a benefit or appearing in some other sort of charity—singing all the while. Her evenings were just as full as her days.

She went on until she found herself laid up in a hospital, her necessitating her canceling appearances in "Good Boy," which she had scored for months. Helen, according to her own eyes, intends to take life a little easier from now on.

Miss Kane will not be the only musical comedy star on the Keith stage this week. Her like one of the best bills of the season. The incomparable Vesseli, European dancing star of exotic grace, is another of the many headliners. Jay C. Flippers, the black-face song and story artist, has also appeared in many Broadway and Boston productions. Then there is Marlan Dixon, remembered as one of the famous dancing team of Doyle and Dixon, who brings his vaudeville with him to the Keith.

William C. DeMille's sketch, "Poor Old Jim," which is the prize winning play from the Little Theater, occupies a feature part of the program. Charles Hopkins Jr., and Beale Remple, with J. M. Clayton, are the members of the "Jim" cast.

GABY FAY, clever actress in "The Man Who Changed His Name" (Coplay).

HER HOBBY'S PAINTING

Mary Brian, featured player in "The Man I Love," may be seen at the Scollay Square, over her fame and fortune to the moving of her parents from Dallas, Tex., to Los Angeles. Born and educated in Dallas, Miss Brian spent seven years there. Several years ago her family moved to Los Angeles, where she pursued her hobby of portrait painting. Her ability along those lines has earned her praise and advice on technique from the Austrian artist, Linne-Samp.

GLORY & BEAUTY PLUS

By FLORENCE ZIEGFELD

THE American girl is the most remarkable creature in the world, and I suppose I am well qualified to make this statement, because I have had so much experience in bringing typical American girls before the public. Not, however, until I started well on my newest musical comedy, "Show Girl," did I realize how true is the American girl, her best to the ideals which the nation has always upheld, for Ruby Keeler, who plays the part of Dixie Dugan in "Show Girl," which comes to the Colonial, June 24, has undoubtedly all the qualifications this nation loves to glorify and emulate.

THE career of this girl duplicates in a small way the careers of our national heroes, starting in obscurity and leading to brilliant success.

Though she is scarcely 20, she is now world-famous, yet she has not changed by a hair since she was a shy, unassuming, and a little nervous girl.

To see her "work" is to see a rehearsal of the life of a star.

To understand her and believe every statement she has made.

She may be the wife of the millionaire, Al Johnson.

She may be wearing diamond bracelets and necklaces, but these externalities count for little to her.

Two other attributes and her rompers, her shapely bare legs crossed easily, time after time working away at rehearsals, appearing the efforts of her show players. She is the first to laugh at the capers of Clayton, Jackson and Durante; she is the first to applaud the abilities of Barbara Newberry, Noel Francis, Kathryn Hereford and Mary Blake. She is the most unassuming of herself, so called importance? Indeed not, she is quite unassuming, and she will get up and sing a chorister how in a step or two, Virginia Frank in working out a routine.

JUST a few years ago, Ruby Keeler was what we call a "mover" in a night club. Soon after that she was a principal in musical comedies on Broadway, finally winning an important role in "Lucky." From then on she went into my own show for a brief time, "Whoopee," starring Eddie Cantor, and it was while doing the holdup scene that I discovered she had great comedy powers, ability to read dialogue and extraordinary personal attraction. There and there she was the star of the show. Dixie Dugan in "Show Girl" and who she sees her now in this picture, rollicking, diversified new musical comedy will feel, I am sure, that I have made the right selection.

ASK YOUR FRIENDS

"I can speak well of your good medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—as it has helped me when I was in bad shape. My mother-in-law and other friends told me to take it and it is a wonderful medicine. I have got my fourth bottle now of the Vegetable Compound and I feel like a young woman again. My nerves are better and I feel well and strong and able to work every day. I recommend it highly."

—Mrs. Jennie Follett,
Box 234, Universal, Indiana

"Two years ago I had a nervous breakdown from overwork. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I thank you for my good health. I cannot write very well in English so I am writing in German. I do my own housework, my appetite is good, I sleep better and my nerves are improved. I have already taken twelve bottles. I never again will be without it in the house and I recommend it."

Young Forgets Debt Pacts as Son Weds

Cleveland, O., June 13 (AP).—Such matters as international reparations conferences and official reports to President Hoover were put aside today as Owen D. Young, head of the American delegation to the Paris negotiations, made a hurried trip to Cleveland to attend the wedding of his son, Charles, to Miss Marie Christensen.

Mr. Young's arrival today brought to an end a journey of nearly 4000 miles, made hastily at the conclusion of the debt negotiations.

Holy Cross 2 to 1 Favorite to Win From Boston College

HEBERT TO OPPOSE McNULTY

By JOHN GILLOOLY
The Crusaders march onto Braves Field this afternoon to play Boston College in the second game of the series determined to hand the Eagles a thrashing and to prove to the world that they're a championship ball club without their great left-hander, Nikola.

Prevailing odds of 2 to 1 which favored Holy Cross is now over-ruled. The betting is now overwhelmingly in favor of the Crusaders when it was learned that the Purple has secured a new man, would not play. Gordon is a former member of the team. Fredrick Hall athlete, who is at the point of being sent to an automobile crash.

But, Harry's pitching staff, though it has lost its best member, is still strong. The staff now consists of Hank, the Purple has Gene Herbert, Bob, Fred, Doherty remaining, and no referee member could win.

Gene Herbert is Harry's selection to pitch the first game of the season. Nikola pitched the first game, giving B. C. but Worcester has lost only one game during two seasons. He has pitched for James. He checked in eight consecutive games, and has won two and two hits, yet lost by a score of 2 to 1. That was his first year in the major league. He has a year in that has been enviable, losing only one game. He is a member of the International League, Boston team (two previous years). He is from Providence, R. I.

His best showing was against the Athletics, when he pitched for two to two hits, while losing to the Athletics.

BOSTON COLLEGE's batters have a liking to right handed pitching and hit a fast ball well. And that's the only way to win is what Nikolaus says. Nikolaus signed a one year agreement with the Yankees.

Twenty thousand fans are expected to scatter over the type of grass rivalry between B.C. and H.C. is widely known and the fans who missed Holy Cross at Harvard a week ago are anxious to get in at one of the top college teams ever assembled on any college campus.

Hugh McNulty, Boston College senior, hit the B.C. pitching now. Hugh McNulty has a slab today to do his very best. His

MACFAYDEN ON MOUND FOR RED SOX LYNN WINS AND GAINS LAP ON LEWISTON

By NICK FLATLEY
Denny MacPeden today is trying to give the Saturday customers a warm welcome. The 29-year-old pitcher is scheduled to be in the lineup to pitch for the Sox against the St. Louis Browns. Daniel has been in the Sox rotation as he have most of the Caribbean pitchers, but he hasn't seen with him for a great while.

The Red Sox have had enough of the "hot" pitcher recently. In West to have a pretty good margin, but the rest of the team has been struggling. The Sox are at bat and first. The boys are hitting the ball a little more confident than the last days, and the fielders are improving as a team.

Tom Whelan's Lynn club got a full game over their most famous the Lewiston Twins. The Lewiston Twins were the ninth the Shreve City team was runs in the rear but a batting which meant them five turned defeat into victory. Lynn won the distance for the 1910 season. The Shreve City team was replaced by Plinn in the and the leaders banged out 10 hits off the latter.

Bill Carrigan knows he hasn't a chance of winning the two clubs battle as he has the Tigers. Carrigan knows his team will scramble out of the cellar. The athletes feel that fortune has turned against them on their own lot, so they may perk up when they get away.

The Fenway boys, the Browns and the Red Sox will take on the Tigers in a double-header Monday and then hit the trails.

It is a foregone conclusion that Ram will have more woe and less faith, will work for Kowley. Ram has only been knocked out once in his career.

Two of the best players in the game were relieved Miller, struck out and forced the runner to ground out.

NEW ENGLAND NOTES

Couple of his uses were tough ones. He can pitch, with both arm and head, so Somerville's "A" sure got some poppettlin'. But the bespectacled young man seems to flourish on that.

Charlie Ruffing lost another in the game of the "nice, but wasn't" kind. He made an outfield error let the winning run trickle over the dish; then the Sox couldn't get the tying run across.

Dog Roach, the Charleston dentist, is back with Porter, the first string receiver, it with two bad legs.

Kid Jack McCarthy has been using the ball viciously since he got to the Erockton club and looks to be in much better shape than he was in the league before.

A ninth inning, scoreless afterren were on first and third with none gone, broke the hearts of the faithful.

After a long season closes at midnight, so it looks as if the Sox would not be able to do a thing.
Bob Quinn would have to let pitchers go, and his pitchers actually are in a rather relaxed mood. "I would trade if he thought he got a little the best of it, but no mag-

Eddie is sure to go higher as he has a wonderful gun and is used to the best of them.

Hooks Dunlap, formerly of Lynn champs, has been playing

The Sox will have to go along with what they have, unless they spring a last minute surprise. The present team will get better. Some of the athletes should start to hit.

For many years "Tad," T. A. Doran, one of the greatest cartoonists and sporting authorities that ever lived, covered the "tough" game, showing before his death.

"Tad" wrote and illustrated a series of stories describing in his inimitable style those ring battles which for thrills and sensationalism were stamped indelibly in his mind. These reminiscences deal not only with fights in which titles were at stake, but with thrilling affairs staged in private, at the smaller clubs. This story is one of the stories.

Sonnenberg Signs to Meet Lewis

By JACK CONWAY

GUS SONNENBERG, after being backed against the wall by Billy Sandow's publicity campaign, gave in to the public demand to meet Strangler Lewis in a return bout. The title battle will be staged at Fenway Park on July 9 under the direction of Paul Bowser.

Sonnenberg made known his decision to meet Lewis in a fiery radio address in which he declared he would "give the greatest battle in the world in the world."

The former Denver football hero charged that the "Germans" were "stealing" the city.

Sonnenberg was willing to meet him, but Sandow ruined the match by sending a ring rider, Piestina, to attack the German in 17 minutes. Only a few weeks ago Sonnenberg conquered Piestina.

A Sonnenberg-Steinke match would have been only a workout for Gus.

Today and will take things easy until they stop the ring rider. Braves Field Monday night in first open air boxing show of the year in the city.

SONNENBERG is to receive a guarantee of $75,000 for his title bout with Lewis. He will also pull down 75 per cent of the moving picture money. It is the largest guarantee ever given to a wrestler.

Lewis had previously signed for this match for $25,000. It will be necessary for the show to draw $100,000 to pay the wrestler.

pointed out that the House rates on cloth were lower in many instances than those in the present tariff. Who suggested the changes? Mr. Amory protested was left unrevealed. Thousands of textile workers having none too much "prosperity," along with the corporation owners, might like to know.

From time to time examples can be cited of company executives buying their own securities. The latest is that of large stockholders in Auburn Automobile Co., headed by President E. L. Ford, who are organizing the Ford Corp. as a holding company to acquire majority stock interests in Auburn and its subsidiaries. This movement is unique as regards its form of operation.

In a Senate debate recently in Washington, D.C., Sen. Frank Lautenberg (D-N.J.) said: "Every corporation which has a right to pollute in the United States is a criminal polluter." The Senate bill, S. 1000, which would amend the Clean Air Act to require that all corporations which pollute be held liable for the cost of cleaning up the pollution, was passed by a 60-40 vote. The bill would require that all corporations which pollute be held liable for the cost of cleaning up the pollution. United Business Service of Boston analyzes the current situation as to its favorable and unfavorable factors, and concludes: "The remarkable activity still evident in the major industries is the chief factor in keeping business well above last year's level. An increasing spotliness, however, is to be noted in both retail trade and crop prospects, due largely to a reaction of both oil and steel against a further slackening in the weather."

The slackening expected would be the usual seasonal action, not to be confused with a distinctly unfavorable general trend. There seems to be sound basis for the optimism of leaders in fields of business and finance.
